

IKONIX USA

For Immediate Release:

Ikonix USA announces the merger of Associated Research, Associated Power Technologies, and SCI.

Lake Forest, Illinois, November 2017 – Beginning January 1st, 2018 Associated Research, Associated Power Technologies, and SCI will join as divisions of Ikonix USA. This merger provides an excellent opportunity to combine three leading names in test and measurement into a single organization with more than 100 years of industry experience. Ikonix USA continues to remain a family-owned organization and this merger does not represent a change of ownership.

“Associated Research, Associated Power Technologies, and SCI have existed as sister organizations for quite some time now. Combining them as divisions of Ikonix USA will allow all of us to provide a more unified brand experience, remain competitive in the global market, and offer a comprehensive portfolio of products and services without sacrificing the unparalleled support our customers expect” says Adam Braverman, Vice President of Ikonix USA.

Associated Research, Associated Power Technologies, and SCI will continue to operate as usual while consolidating operations and resources into Ikonix USA.
